Specification

The examiner has not checked the specification to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors (grammatical, typographical and idiomatic). Cooperation of the applicant(s) is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant(s) may become aware of in the specification, in the claims and in any future amendment(s) that applicant(s) may file.

Applicant(s) is also requested to complete the status of any copending applications referred to in the specification by their Attorney Docket Number or Application Serial Number, if any.

The status of the parent application(s) and/or any other application(s) cross-referenced to this application, if any, should be updated in a timely manner.

A brief description of the drawing should be provided in the specification.

Information Disclosure Statement

The document not considered on the PTO-1449 is not considered to have been adequately described by applicant. Only the cover pages and the subject index of the journal have been supplied, and it is therefore not apparent what information the examiner should consider.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112/101

Claim 34 provides for the use of a catalyst, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 34 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

The language "utilizing...as a catalyst" constitutes an "improper use" claim that is not statutory and this claim has not been further treated on the merits. In the event that the claim is properly rewritten, it may be withdrawn from consideration as directed to a non-elected invention, and that office action will still be properly made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5,919,430 to Hasenzahl et al. or WO 94/02245

The instantly claimed invention is directed to a process for making/treating a zeolite composition and the solid material obtained thereby.

Hasenzahl et al. disclose shaped TS-1 granules that are washed with deionized water after the granules are separated from the mother liquor. See particularly columns 6-7 and the examples, but the entire document is highly relevant due to the breadth of the claims under examination. This disclosure is indistinguishable from the product claims and from the process claims requiring only washing. The additionally claimed steps present in some of the claims such as crystallization, separating, calcining, and so forth are considered to be fairly taught by the Hasenzahl et al. disclosure. WO 94/02245 discloses a Ti-beta composition and method for the production thereof when the catalyst is post treated with steam prior to calcinations. See the entire disclosure, paying particular attention to the examples, the tables and pages 4-6. There is no apparent distinction in either the composition or the method for the production thereof between the instant claims and either the teachings of Hasenzahl et al. or the WO 94/02245 document. Regarding claimed US/VIS characteristics, it is considered that such inherently flow from practicing the production method of the prior art.

Conclusion

Applicants are advised that any evidence to be provided under 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 and any amendments to the claims and specification should be submitted prior to final rejection to be considered timely. It is anticipated that the next office action will be a final rejection.
